Currency : Baht (B)

Swissôtel River Kwai - Felix Kanchanaburi is situated in undoubtedly one of Thailand's most picturesque provinces. Kanchanaburi Town was originally established in the days of Rama I. It was intended to be the first line of defense against the Burmese. The nearby 3 Pagoda pass was viewed as a possible invasion point and even today remains a popular trading route. The town is situated in the slightly elevated valley of the Mae Klong river, amidst rolling hills and Sugar cane plantations. Although in recent history the areas notoriety stems more from the infamous Death Railway and the Bridge on the River Kwai, Kanchanaburi is a province rich in natural beauty and history, a fascinating place to visit.

TRANSPORTATION

Swissôtel River Kwai - Felix Kanchanaburi is easily accessible from Bangkok. Air-Conditioned buses depart from Bangkok's New Southern Bus terminal hourly, the fare is approximately 60 Baht. For around 30 Baht, ordinary buses depart every 20 mins. A tourist train operates from Hualamphong Station early every morning, tickets are priced at around 250 Baht for adults and 120 Baht for children.

In Kanchanaburi Town itself travel is inexpensive. Small utility buses (Songthaews) operate a communal service, fares are approximately 5 Baht. Tricycles, (Sam-lors) also operate, fares are generally in the 10-15 Baht range for local trips. Both bicycles and motorbikes are readily available for hire.

ATTRACTIONS

The Bridge on the River Kwai, a memorable ride on the death railway and a thought provoking visit to the war cemetery, are all closeby. The river's attractions include a scenic long tail boat ride, visiting nearby waterfalls and caves. Avid golfers can take advantage of several superb courses close at hand. Elephant rides and camping in the forest, will interest the more adventuresome. Also within easy reach are the important 13th century remains of a Khmer outpost of the Angkor Empire, Muang Singh (Lion City). The Prasat Muang Singh Historical Park is located on a bend in the Kwai Noi River, in spacious grounds. Erawan Falls National Park is one of Thailand's most visited and most beautiful parks. It is easily reached by buses that depart regularly from Kanchanaburi Bus Station and the significant archaeological site, discovered during the construction of the Death Railway, Ban Kao (old Town) is nearby. This discovery provided evidence that the area was inhabited as long as 10,000 years ago.

SHOPPING

Shopping in the area is mainly confined to local markets, the area is better known for gems, in particular Sapphires. The Bo Ploy Gem Centre is well worth a look.

EATING OUT

The area is favoured with many good eating places. At the northern end of Saengchuto Road there are a number of good and relatively inexpensive restaurants.
